No one can tell how soon these will develop into Cancer of the worst type. So many people die from Cancer simply because they do not know just what the disease is; they naturally turn themselves over to the doctors, and are forced to submit to a cruel and dangerous operation—the only treatment which the doctors know for Cancer. The disease promptly returns however and is even more violent, and destructive them.

promptly returns, however, and is even more violent and destructive than before. Cancer is a deadly poison in the blood, and an operation, plaster, or other external treatment can have no effect whatever upon it. The cure must come from within—the last vestige of poison must be eradicated.

Mr. Wm. Walpole, of Walshtown, S. P., says: "A little blotch about the size of a pea came under my left eye. gradually growing larger, from which shooting pains at intervals ran in all directions. I became greatly alarmed and consulted a good doctor, who pronounced it Cancer, and advised that it be cut out, but this I could not consent to. I read in my local paper of a cure effected by S S. S. and decided to try it. It acted like a charm, the Cancer becoming at first irritated, and then discharging very freely. This gradually grew less and then discontinued altogether, leaving a small scab which soon drop-ped off, and now only a healthy little scar remains where what threatened to destroy my life once held full sway." Positively the only cure for Cancer is Swift's Specific—

BILL REEDER'S DEBUT.

A New Congressman Who is Gradually Getting Acquainted.

er, the new Republican Congressman according to the Kansas Times. He went to Washington early this summer, and Joe Bristow, of Kansas, the Fourth Assistant Postmaster Géneral igreed-to show him around and put him on to the topes. The first place they went was into the office of Charles Emory Smith, the Postmaster General. They were introduced and chatted for while, and as Reeder are e to go he

Bristow was blushing like a school-

"I am Postmaster General."

"Ah, yes," said Reeder as he backed out awkwardly.

Then they went to the War Department, and Mr. Bristow took the Kansan into Secretary Alger's private office. Reeder put his hat down on the lesk in front of Secretary Alger after the introduction and the three chatted lor a while. When they started Reed er nearly stampeded Bristow by asking the Secretary of War: "What did you say your name was?"

"Alger-Russell A. Alger." "And," continued the new Congress man with the air of a man yet unenlightened, "what are you secretary of?"

"Secretary of War," replied Alger, truthfully, for he was then. During this seance Bristow stood first on one toot and then on the other. Before leaving the State, War and Navy building they ran into Vice President Hobart. There was another introduction, and this time he remembered the name. Reeder, still thursting for knowledge, asked:

"Do you reside here in this city, Mr. Hobart?"

"Part of the time," replied Mr. Hobart, "but my home is in New Jersey." (in senson) and whatever else needs to "Well, I'm mighty glad to have saw you," replied Reeder, with cordiality, typical of the boundless West. Later he asked Bristow: "What does that felier do?" and when told that he was Vice President, and, therefore, didn't Is sold and guaranteed by do anything, he was greatly surprised

New Lot of Pie and Table Then they encountered Senator Cullom, and after the introduction Reed-

"I didn't catch your name, Senator?" "Mr. Cullom," replied the Senator. Then, after an embarrassing pause "What State might you be from?" "Illinois," said the venerable Senaor, modestly.

"Glad I seen you," continued Reeder. "Do you know, you look like the picture of Abraham Lincoln?"

Before the Illinois Senator could recover from his astonishment Joe Bristow had him by the arm and was leading him back to the Post Office Department. They had an engagement to go to the White House together but Bristow pleaded to be excused on the ground that he had a tremendous amount of work to do. In reality he was afraid he would ask Mr. McKinley what State he is from, and what he is President of.

Checking the Rush of Young Men From Farms to Cities.

Saturday Evening Post.

Minnesota is the first State that has succeeded in checking the rush of good story at the expense of Bill Reed- young men from the country to the eat it. He died. Twenty ate him up big cities. This result has been from the Sixth district of that State, brought about through the influence of a State school that is agricultural and ate those four hundred, and they in fact as weil as in name.

An institution that can so impress its work on students that an average Frinety-five out of every hundred of bem are willing to return to farmife and put into practice the alvane el methods practically taught in the school, is deserving of high commenda-

It is evident that the secret of the Minnesota school lies in its organization and management, for there are "Smith," replied the Postmaster many other institutions in the country of a supposed like character that cannot show anything near such results.

There are now sixty-five colleges of griculture and the mechanical arts in the United States that have been enlowed by acts of Congress, and fortysight States and Territories received each $23,000 from the Federal Treasary last year for the promotion of practical agricultural and mechanical

An examination of the reports of hese institutions leads to the beliefhat in many instances such schools have been created as departments of existing colleges more to secure the government appropriation than to nake practical farmers and machanics.
